Cono Sur Organic	Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere	2008	"Concentrated flavours of black and red fruits are nicely balanced with soft tannins and a hint of oak. The wine aged for six month in 80 percent oak barrels and 20 percent stainless-steel tanks. All the grapes were hand harvested ant are 100 certified organic. The Cabernet Sauvignon definitely adds some richness and body to the wine, but the Carmènère flavours are still prominent." Heather Stober / South Coast Today / USA
Cono Sur Organic	Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere	2008	"It gives a little toast and coffee over black fruit on the nose, and plenty more of the same on the palate, all shaded with a little cedar. Full bodied and fairly dense, yet with a certain sleek character, this is a solid, well structured wine that drinks well now, but clearly has its best days ahead of it; 3-5 years is a good bet. This does show some oak influence, but it's in proportion to the deep, dense fruit, and should integrate well with time in the cellar." George Neriter / www.gangofpoor.com / USA
Cono Sur Organic	Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere	2008	Best Value Red Wine "Best value red of this release and from organically grown grapes. Aromas of black raspberry, cedar and cherries lead into big hearted black cherry, vanilla and plum flavours. The Colchagua Valley is home to fabulous reds." Gord Stimmell / Toronto Star, May 2009 / Canada
Cono Sur Organic	Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere	2007	Wine of the week "A Chilean winery that has been catching my eye lately is Cono Sur, particularly its organic wines that sport a bicycle on the label. My favorite red is a Cabernet Sauvignon /

		wines that sport a bicycle on the label. My favorite red is a Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere blend. This is not one of those sweetish fruit bombs that seem to dominate this price category. Instead, the wine shows lots of dry fruit flavors and aromas that remind me of plums and cherries. These are nicely integrated with an herbal/spice character and the slightest hint of vanilla from its time spent resting in oak barrels.” Richard Kinssies / Seattle Post Intelligencer / USA
Cono Sur Organic	Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere	2007 “This red shows clean, crisp notes of cherry, raspberry, strawberry and plums with traces of tobacco and vanilla, resulting from its ageing in French oak barrels. Perfect with hearty meat dishes.” Edinburgh Evening News / UK
Cono Sur Organic	Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere	2006 Wine of the week “The nose of the wine reminds me of those tiny wild blackberries that ripen around here this time of year, and also of black cherries and vanilla from aging the wine in French oak Barrels. It is a classy wine with a full, plush texture, a deep, rich color and big juicy flavors of black and red fruit, earth and spice.” Seattle post Intelligencer / Richard Kinssies / USA
Cono Sur Organic	Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere	2006 “Very bright purplish red colour. Aromas of red fruits, liquor and sweet spice. Toasted notes. A fresh mouth with gentle tannins and firm acidity. A good bi-varietal plus from Colchagua.” Eduardo Brethuer / Vitis Magazine / Chile
Cono Sur Organic	Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere	2006 "This affordable and enjoyable red wine is produced with Organically grown grapes from Cono Sur's estate Vineyards in the Colchagua valley, home to some of Chile's finest red wines. It has the juicy personality that consumers have come to crave from Chilean reds with some earthy and spicy accents. There's also something charming about the label's depiction of a bicycle." Christopher water / The Nugget / Canada
Cono Sur Organic	Cabernet Sauvignon / Carmenere	2006 "This beautiful blend of two of the biggest, juiciest red grapes that exist is a deep ruby red colour with aromas or earthy, red fruits like cherries, plums and a little bit of spice. It goes down long and warm and is Sure to warm you up during these long cold nights." Derry News / UK
